

Monckton vs Ignorant Greenie - a must see!

Lord Christopher Walter Monckton, 3rd Viscount Monckton of Brenchley is a British politician, business consultant, policy adviser, writer, columnist, inventor and hereditary peer. He served as an advisor to Margaret Thatcher's policy unit in the 1980s and invented the Eternity puzzle at the end of the 1990s, as well as the Eternity II in 2007. More recently, he has attracted attention as a climate sceptic, and it is in this capacity that he is visiting Australia in February to present a series of talks on the inaccuracies of climate change science, as well as the costs associated with carbon trading (Emissions Trading Scheme).

Watch and listen to Lord Monckton severely embarrassing a typical Greenpeace activist on the streets of Copenhagen:
