

PM's blooper (or a confession?)

Today's Australian (18 December 2008) Cut and Paste (on the letters page) quotes Prime Minister Kevin Rudd using the term "Maximalist" to explain his climate change policy.

Someone looked up the dictionary definition of "maximalist" as "a member of an extremist group or faction of socialists, as of a faction of the Russian Social Revolutionary Party".

That is all there was, but how appropriate!
