

The Liberals Lack Real Leadership

The Letters Editor.

Today's news reports that Turnbull's week was starting as badly as the previous one as he fell into contradictions and fights about emissions trading schemes, and he seemed to have lost authority in his party room.

If he was sensible he would abandon the green anti-industrial agenda, and announce that the Liberal Party was abandoning the Climate Change/Global Warming religion.

It is ridiculous that grown people can believe that Australia's production of CO2 could possibly effect the planet's climate.

In any case, CO2 does not in the least effect the climate. It is all a scam to produce more tax for our political masters. It is past time we objected and have them instead concentrate on assisting entrepreneurs to produce goods and or services for which the world scrambles.

The most assistance could be rendered by a great repealing of all forms of State interventionism for a great start. We could then all concentrate on our real problems.

Ronald Kitching
P.O. Box 9809
Frenchville QLD 4701
Australia
E-mail <ron.kitching@rahco.org>
RAHCO Web Site <www.rahco.com>