'Celebrating Mannwest's 120 Years in Business'

Excerpt from Chairman Ron's comments on board the Decoy Paddlesteamer - Dec. 18, 2015

"There was another party recently, a couple of weeks ago in Paris - I think it was called the Climate Circus. 40,000 people were there. We have got only 100 tonight and there are four main differences between that party and this one.

1. Everyone actually got here, tonight, at their own expense!
2. Everyone here, has the ability to balance their own cheque books and balance their own budgets.
3. We know that to spend, we first have to earn. However, not that 40,000 bunch of climateers. That group of people have incurred an ongoing cost to future generations, estimated to be about $1.5 trillion each year forever. This debt is left to the ongoing generation just to cover the fun that these 'Climate-Alarmists' had during their two weeks in Paris.
4. When we are gone we will do our best not to leave any debt behind.

So, it's great to be with responsible people here tonight. Consequently, if I wanted to take any advice from anyone I certainly would not take it from any of the 40,000 Paris contingent.

However, I would take advice from people like yourselves.

So thank you for being with us tonight."
