

Ukraine Freedom Fund

An Atlas Network Initiative

Ukraine is defending the possibility of a free society while Russia brazenly attacks its citizens. Atlas Network's Ukrainian partners will play a crucial role in the future of the country.

The Ukraine Freedom Fund focuses on:

- Sustaining our brave independent partner institutions that are based in Ukraine. The war, and the uncertainties that preceded it, have brought serious setbacks to these organizations that will be crucial for the future of freedom in the country. Staff have been displaced. Funders have been lost. Infrastructure damaged. We want to provide a lifeline to our valued partners and show them the solidarity that exists in the freedom movement.
- Going back on offense. Crises can bring opportunities. Ukraine has been in Russia's crosshairs precisely because of its (imperfect, but not insignificant) progress toward becoming a functioning liberal democracy. Our partners recognize that this is the moment to accelerate progress by unleashing the power of free enterprise, by defeating cronyism, and through trade and integration with the global economy. Many of our European partners already are leaning into the challenge of helping Ukraine succeed. Our own Tom Palmer is headed to Poland at this very minute to coordinate efforts with the funds our donor community is making available.

Friends, if freedom is extinguished in Ukraine, it will be a human tragedy of horrifying proportions, and it will encourage authoritarian aggressors around the world.

By the same token, if Ukraine becomes a new shining "city on the hill," then the 21st century will have a much brighter trajectory. Already, the Ukrainian people have reminded the world that freedom is precious and worth fighting for. Let's work with our Ukrainian partners now so the country not only survives Russian aggression, but becomes living proof that peace and prosperity can grow when free institutions are successfully planted by local advocates of our principle.
